

iClanWebsites.com – Privacy Policy

Last revised: 11th August 2011

Information about you iClanWebsites.com collects and stores information that could be personal. You must exercise caution when submitting personal information through online forms and email. To be on the extra safe side, only submit personal information which is not sensitive to you - you are responsible for deciding which information is regarded to be sensitive. We also collect, for statistical reasons, other information about you such as your IP address, web browser, the referring URL and the time of your visit. This is so we can offer better solutions for you in the future by analysing your usage and also to perform security checks. All passwords are encrypted and cannot be humanly read by any persons.

On any clan website your email address can be hidden from non-administrator users and your profile can be hidden from all guest users.

Files from external sources such as widgets and images placed on websites may record your activity. We have no affiliation with such sources and it is therefore worth noting we cannot be liable for any information stored by these sources.

Disclosure of information

The information we collect about you will not be sold or given or any third party, business, organization or government, except our trusted partners and affiliates and in circumstances where ordered to do so by any authority such as a court of law. Information may only be viewable by website owners (persons which run individual clan websites) and by persons employed by iClanWebsites.com.

We may use your email address to send you news and updates regarding iClanWebsites.com. Emails that are registered for use with a user account on a clan website may be used from time to time. Please contact us if you no longer wish to receive these emails.

Security of your information

While security checks have and will be performed aimed at protecting your information, the web, by its nature is very dangerous. Unknown bugs could be exploited, gaps in security checks, hacks and spy ware are examples of how your information could be leaked to unauthorized users. It is therefore worth noting that we cannot guarantee your information is totally secure on our servers.

All payments are processed via PayPal or otherwise using a secure connection. Credit/debit card or bank details are not stored by iClanWebsites.com and are processed by an external party.